

Ripple Effects

A recent study of 99 Compassion alumni in the Dominican Republic highlighted that Compassion's holistic child development program doesn't just impact the children in the program – it has a far greater reach into their families, their communities and beyond!

Scan here to watch the full documentary highlighting the ripple effects study.

94%

said participation in the program helped positively influence their parents/siblings

"Knowing Christ through the program helped me reach out to my family."

Cognitive

Physical

Spiritual

Relational

90%

said participation in the program made their hopes for their children more achievable than their parents' hopes for themselves

"Compassion changed my life in an incredible way. I completed university and have a career, and those closest to me feel very proud of this."

95%

said participation in the program helped them achieve their educational goals

"I found people who influenced my life powerfully, showing me Jesus who is my only Savior."

98%

made a personal commitment to Jesus Christ after participation in the program

"When I was a child, I didn't even think about a future. It was at the Compassion program that they helped me to dream."

—Tony Beltrán, National Director for Compassion Dominican Republic

BEYOND MEASURE